Chicago-Kent College of Law

1911-'12

There is little, if any, dispute now as to the relative merit of education by means of law schools and that to be got by mere practical training or apprenticeship as an attorney's clerk. Without disparagement of mere practical advantage, the verdict of the best informed is in favor of the schools.

"The benefits which they offer are easily suggested and are of the most superior kind. They afford the student an acquaintance with general principles, difficult, if not impossible to be otherwise obtained; they serve to remove difficulties which are inherent in scientific and technical phraseology, and they, as a necessary consequence, furnish the student with the means for clear conception and accurate and precise expression. They familiarize him with leading cases, and the application of them to discussion. They give him the valuable habit of attention, teach him familiar maxims, and offer him the priceless opportunities which result from contact and generous emulation. They lead him readily to survey the law as a science, and imbue him with the principles of ethics as its true foundation. Disputing, reasoning, reading, and discoursing become his constant exercises; he improves remarkably as he becomes acquainted with them, and obtains progress otherwise beyond his reach."—From the Report of the Committee on Legal Education to the American Bar Association.

"The American Law Schools have convinced the profession that they do teach law in an efficient way, in a way which makes the man not only a better instructed lawyer, but a better practical lawyer."—Sir Frederick Pollock.

Chicago-Kent College of Law.

ORGANIZATION.

The Chicago College of Law was established in 1888, and was the Law Department of Lake Forest University from 1889 to 1902, when the University was reorganized as a college and the professional schools became independent. Kent College of Law was incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois in 1892. In 1900 the two colleges were consolidated and have since been known as the Chicago-Kent College of Law.

ADVANTAGES.

Situated in the very center of the great business district of Chicago, the school affords its students opportunities of an acquaintance with the management of large business interests which will be of incalculable benefit to them in after years in controversies respecting the rights and obligations of owners of such interests.

The advantages of pursuing a Course of Law Studies in a great commercial metropolis like Chicago are well worthy of consideration. There are almost constantly in session in Chicago, the United States Court of Appeals, the United States Circuit Court, the United States District Court, a Court of Admiralty, two branches of the Illinois Appellate Court, fourteen Judges sitting in law or chancery in the Cook County Circuit Court, twelve Judges sitting in law or chancery in the Cook County Superior Court, six Judges sitting in the Criminal Court, two Judges sitting in the Cook County Court, a Probate Court, a Juvenile Court, Twenty-eight Municipal Court Judges, and numerous Police Courts, so it can readily be seen that a great variety of questions, calling for the application of almost every possible phase of legal principles are constantly arising and being litigated in courts of Chicago, thus affording law students exceptional and desirable opportunities for hearing legal proceedings in all their forms in actual progress. The sessions of the schools are held at such hours that an opportunity is afforded the students of combining the work of the school with that of the office, and the school is thereby enabled to obtain the services of eminent judges and practicing lawyers who are also trained and experienced teachers. It is believed that the long experience of these men upon the bench and at the bar in the practical application of the principles of law enables them to impart instruction of much greater value to students than would be possible from a merely theoretical standpoint.

The School is in the immediate vicinity of the courts and in the midst of the law offices, and the students are encouraged and assisted as far as practicable in obtaining employment in suitable offices.

The bar of Chicago numbers about four thousand five hundred practicing lawyers (more than half of these who have graduated from any law-school in this state being alumni of the Chicago-Kent College of Law), and students who so desire can find employment as clerks or opportunities to enter offices as students with the free use of good working libraries. ON ACCOUNT OF THE PRACTICAL NATURE OF THE INSTRUCTION AT THIS SCHOOL, ITS STUDENTS ARE IN DEMAND AS CLERKS IN LAW OFFICES; IN FACT, THE SECRETARY CAN ALWAYS PLACE STUDENTS WHO ARE WORTHY IN GOOD POSITIONS IN THE BEST OFFICES IN THE CITY.

The marked increase, from year to year, in the attendance of students at this institution, demonstrates the fact that the advantages which it offers have met a public want, and encourages those who have charge of it to still greater efforts in the direction of increasing its efficiency and marking it in all respects one of the foremost law schools of the country.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR ADMISSION.

Applicants for a degree must furnish satisfactory proof that they have had the equivalent of a High School education or must be prepared to pass an examination upon the branches of learning, usually taught in such schools in the State of Illinois. Other applicants are admitted as special students on furnishing satisfactory proof of sufficient education to enable them successfully to pursue legal studies, and undertaking to make up their deficiencies before presenting themselves for a degree. Students who have not had all the required studies may, while pursuing their course in law, make up the educational requirements in which they are deficient under a competent director recommended by the Faculty.

Students from other law schools in good standing may be admitted to advanced standing upon production of a satisfactory certificate showing the period of their attendance at such schools, and their proficiency in studies there pursued.

Students who have already pursued for the period of one year, under the direction of an attorney, a course of law studies equivalent to that assigned to the first year of this school, and who pass a satisfactory examination upon the same, may be admitted to the second year.

The Rules of the Supreme Court and the State Board of Law Examiners governing admission to the bar in the State of Illinois and the preliminary educational requirements are given in the Appendix.

MODE OF INSTRUCTION.

The chief aim of this school is to prepare men for the actual practice of the law. The high standard required by the present

Board of Law Examiners affords a most rigorous test of the acquirements of the student presenting himself for examination. The course of study conforms to the requirements of the Supreme Court and the Board of Examiners. It is intended to fit men for the bar examination, but more especially for practice at the bar, undertaking to be as thoroughly practical as possible, consistent with such a theoretical knowledge of the law as is desirable and necessary for every lawyer. That it has been reasonably successful in both respects is indicated by the high degree of success which has come to its graduates since the present rules of examination were promulgated. The measure of fitness for admission to the bar must be determined to a very large extent by the action of the Bar Examiners of the State, and in the absence of any other uniform test, this must be deemed conclusive. Since the present rules for admission to the bar have been in force, the percentage of failures among graduates of this school in the bar examinations has been less than four per cent, while the total percentage of failures among applicants presenting themselves for examination to the Bar Examiners has been more than twenty-seven per cent.

The members of the faculty of this school are all regularly and actively engaged, either upon the bench or at the bar, in the practical administration of the law, and although special attention is given to Illinois practice, the course is designed to be sufficiently broad and thorough to prepare students for practice in any State of the Union. The course is based upon the theory that there is no one "best method" of instruction in law, and therefore aims to combine the advantages of all approved systems and methods. It includes text-book work, lectures, study of leading and illustrative cases, exercises in drafting contracts, pleadings and other legal documents, the preparation of briefs and the conduct of causes in the practice courts.

The students are required carefully to read and study the text books and leading cases included in the course, and thorough examinations, both oral and written, are given upon lessons previously assigned, coupled with such exposition and illustration of the various topics thus presented for consideration, as at the time may seem necessary to their being properly and adequately understood.

Lectures are given upon some parts of all leading subjects and upon special subjects. Students are expected personally to take notes of all lectures, and whenever so required, prepare an analytical synopsis.

Exercises are given in the preparation of pleadings and in the discussion by the students, under the superintendence of the faculty, of matters of pleading and practice and other questions of law arising upon cases specially assigned, with the view of illustrating the rules of law by applying them to the various forms of judicial proceedings. To this is added a Practice Court, presided over by one of the instructors as judge. The students are expected to prepare pleadings and briefs, and make all oral arguments upon the statements of facts submitted to them beforehand. The instruction, therefore, includes a course covering the general principles of jurisprudence, together with the exemplifications of the practice, pleadings and proceedings in the various forms of actions at law and suits in equity, both in courts of original and appellate jurisdiction.

The Faculty reserve the right to modify the foregoing Course of Study as they may deem most advantageous for the students. It is, therefore, advisable that before purchasing text-books students should consult with the members of the Faculty.

CLASS SECTIONS.

In order to make the work in the class room as individual in its nature as possible, the several classes are each divided alphabetically into sections.

ABSTRACT EXAMINATION AND CONVEYANCING.

Abstracts embodying difficult questions which arise for solution in the examination of abstracts of title of real estate have been prepared by the instructors in this branch of the law. Under the direction of the instructor each student is required to trace, in one of these abstracts, the history of a title from the government of the United States and to study and note the validity and invalidity of the title as affected by the acts of parties or by the operation of law. These abstracts have been so prepared as to raise all questions with which an attorney ordinarily meets in examining the most involved titles to real estate. After completing courses in real estate and probate law this course will give an opportunity to make practical application of many principles of real estate and probate law.

COURSES IN PROCEDURE AND PRACTICE.

Experience has shown that the student who confines his attention solely to the study of the law as a science is not fitted for practice until he has acquired a certain amount of actual experience in a law office. This defect in existing methods of legal education is remedied in the course of instruction herewith presented, in which theory and practice are combined in such relations as to impart to students the benefits of both methods. In order to insure a practical acquaintance with the ordinary work of a law office a course in Procedure and a Practice Court form leading features of the course of instruction and each student is required to pursue a systematic course of instruction in the preparation of all such legal papers and suits as are likely to occupy the attention of the practitioner. In other words, students are taught law by practicing it.

Each student is required to study the topics assigned from the books used by practitioners, to draw all the papers required, to prepare the evidence and pleadings and study the practice relating thereto, and during the week of the exercises, to file all the papers required. The facts of each case will be announced one week in advance of the exercise thereon.

The course will cover in a thorough manner the following subjects:

Methods of instituting actions in courts of record, process, affidavits, etc.; bail in civil actions; motions; judgment notes, cognovits; practice and pleading in the action of assumpsit; practice and pleading in the actions of account and covenant; practice and pleading in the action of debt; practice and pleading in the actions of detinue and trover; practice and pleading in the action of trespass; practice and pleading in the action of case; practice and pleading in the action of replevin; practice and pleading in the action of ejectment; defenses and actions; practice in justice courts, civil and criminal; instructions to jury; motions for a new trial; bills of exceptions; attachment and garnishment; mechanic's lien; foreclosure of mortgages; creditor's bills; mandamus; prohibition; certiorari; scire facias; special statutory proceedings; preparation for trial (lecture); Law Books and Law Libraries (lecture).

Other heads of practice not included in the above scheme, such as the organization and conduct of corporations, general and limited partnership, etc., will be treated in the subjects to which they respectively relate.

The course in Procedure and the work in the Practice Court familiarize the student with all the proceedings in a suit from the time the client states the facts of the case to his attorney until it is decided by the court of last resort.

SESSIONS AND ATTENDANCE.

The sessions will be held in the evening, beginning at half-past six o'clock, with a required course of ten hours each week.

Every student is required regularly and punctually to attend all lectures, recitations and exercises of his class and to remain throughout the session, and to make thorough preparation for the class work. Students who absent themselves from classroom work in any subject without good and sufficient reason and the consent of the Faculty, will not be entitled to take the final examination in such subjects, and will be deemed conditioned therein.

REVIEW COURSE.

A special review course is given four times a year preparatory to each of the four State bar examinations. This course includes a general review and quiz on all subjects for examination required by Rule 39 of the Illinois Supreme Court. The classes will begin and continue six weeks immediately preceding each examination. A fee of $15.00 is charged members of the school entering this class.

EXAMINATIONS.

Examinations will be held at the conclusion of each subject and at such other times as in the discretion of the Faculty may seem best.

POST-GRADUATE COURSE, 1911-12.

A three-years' course in this or some other college maintaining an equivalent curriculum must be completed before one may become a candidate for this degree and at least one year must be spent in study thereafter, before the granting of the degree. Certain special courses are given which it is expected all candidates for this degree will take; also a given amount of work in the undergraduate courses may be elected with the consent of the Faculty. Courses of home study, outlined from time to time, and the preparation of briefs and theses are a requirement of the work. For information concerning the Graduate course leading to the degree of Master of Laws, address the secretary of the Faculty.

COURSE IN FORENSIC ORATORY.

Special classes are also conducted in Forensic oratory and public speaking during the school year and summer session under the auspices of the college, competent instruction being provided for a nominal fee. Students are especially recommended to take this course for such time as their individual needs may require before completing the regular courses in the college.

LIBRARY.

The College has its own library of about two thousand five hundred volumes, including the Illinois and Appellate Reports, the Lawyers' Reports Annotated, the American and English Encyclopedia of Law, the Encyclopedia of Practice and Pleadings, The Encyclopedia of Forms, "Cyc," over 300 volumes of English Reports, and the standard text-books, and part of the National Reporter System which contains the current American decisions, and the leading current periodicals.

The students also have the benefit, without charge, of the Law Institute, Public Library of Chicago, and the Newberry Library, containing in the aggregate 325,000 volumes, and various other law libraries.

LOCATION.

The college library and lecture rooms are located on the second and third floors of the Athenaeum building, 59 East Van Buren street, and are easy of access from all parts of the city and suburbs.

The business office is at 1002, 8 South Dearborn street, Chicago.

DEGREES.

Upon candidates who complete the three years' course in a manner satisfactory to the Faculty, the authorities of this institution will confer the degree of Bachelor of Laws in course.

The course of instruction leading to the degree of Master of Laws covers a minimum period of four years. Candidates for this degree must have completed a three years' course in this or some other college maintaining an equivalent curriculum. For information concerning the Graduate course leading to the degree of Master of Laws, address the Secretary of the Faculty.

PRIZES.

Thomas A. Moran Prize—In memory of the late Thomas A. Moran, for many years Dean of the College, his son, Thomas A. Moran, offers a prize of Three Hundred Dollars, one hundred of which are to be presented to each class.

This is known as Thomas A. Moran Prize, and is to be awarded to the member of each class who, during the school year, ranks highest both in proficiency and attendance.

(Awarded in 1909 to Ernest O. Kampmeier, of the first year class, who ranked first in his class; to Charles R. Dyer, of the second year class, who ranked first in his class; and to Charles D. Zurhorst, of the third year class, who ranked first in his class.)

The college offers a scholarship for the ensuing college year to the member of the first year class who, during the first year, attains a proficiency in his studies which ranks him second in his class.

(Awarded in 1909 to Carl H. Bramer, who ranked second in his class. Honorable mention is made of Frederick Mayer.)

The college offers a scholarship for the ensuing college year to the member of the second year class who, during the year, attains a proficiency in his studies which ranks him second highest in his class.

(Awarded in 1910 to Harry W. Meneley, who ranked second in his class. Honorable mention is made of Harry A. Linawearer.)

Messrs Callaghan & Co., law-book sellers of Chicago, offer a prize of $50.00 in law books to the member of the third year class who, during the third year, prepares the best legal brief on any subject accepted by the Faculty.

(Awarded in 1910 to Carl Cohn.)

Messrs. T. H. Flood & Co., law-book sellers of Chicago, offer a prize of $50.00 in law books for the best thesis prepared by any member of the third year class on some legal question to be accepted by the Faculty.

(Awarded in 1910 to George T. Preachern.)

The L. D. Powell Company, law publishers of Los Angeles, Cal., offer as a prize a complete set of their "Encyclopedia of Evidence" to the member of the third year class who shall write the best thesis on some evidentiary topic to be announced each year by the Faculty.

(Awarded in 1910 to Frank L. Tuttle.)

(Each member of the third year class is required to compete for at least one of the last three prizes. No one, however, is allowed to compete for more than one.)

Mr. William Elmore Foster, who presides over the Practice Court, offers two prizes: Anderson's Law Dictionary to the student attaining the highest average in Procedure Course, and Thompson on Trials to the student accomplishing the best work in Practice Court.

(The first of these prizes was awarded in 1910 to H. W. Jirka, and the second to Abe Peterson.)

TUITION.

A matriculation fee of $5.00 is charged all students at the time of entering the school. This fee is paid but once during the course.

The charge of tuition will be $75.00 per year, payable in three installments of $25.00 each, on or before the first day of each term.

A rebate of $5.00 is allowed to those who pay the entire tuition in advance on or before September 15th.

A fee of $10.00 will be charged for diploma.

No tuition fees will be refunded on account of inability to attend, but if an entire term is lost, students having paid tuition may attend without charge at a subsequent term.

The books necessary each year will cost from $25.00 to $30.00 if purchased new. Used copies may usually be obtained at a considerable discount, and free use of many of the books required can be had by students in offices, thus diminishing the expense to that extent. Students may also arrange at the college to rent the books if desired.

An incidental fee of $1.50 will be added to the regular tuition for the second year, covering cost of preparation of printed abstract furnished.

The cost of living is lower in Chicago than in any other large city in the United States. Board may be obtained at very reasonable rates in private homes or in boarding houses, and students from a distance will be assisted by the Secretary in securing suitable accommodations.

CLASS DEBATES.

Each class has a debating society which meets weekly to discuss live questions of the day. Students are thus given an opportunity to practice public speaking and cultivate the art of thinking while on their feet in heated argument.

ATHLETICS.

Football and baseball teams have been organized and a schedule is being arranged for the season of 1910-11. All students who desire to take an active part in college athletics will assemble in the first year room on the opening night, September 13th, 1911.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

There are in Chicago and vicinity more than twenty-five hundred graduates of Chicago-Kent College of Law and the colleges which merged into it. An annual reunion of classes and Alumni banquet are held, at which some of the best known and most talented public men of the country are invited to speak. On these occasions each class is seated by itself and old time acquaintances are renewed. Class spirit runs high and much enthusiasm is displayed among the classes in trying to bring out great numbers. The undergraduate classes are always invited to these reunions and are represented on the different committees.

The last occasion of this kind was held at the Auditorium Hotel, Saturday evening, February 25, 1911.

ADMISSION TO THE BAR.

Admission to the Bar of the State of Illinois is governed by the rules of the Supreme Court of the State and by rules and regulations adopted by the State Board of Law Examiners appointed by said Court.

The present rules of the Supreme Court, in force November 4, 1897, revised October 24, 1903, are to be found in 168 Ill. 20 and 204 Ill. 20, and are as follows:

Rule 39. There shall be appointed by this court a State Board of Law Examiners, to consist of five members of the bar of at least five years' standing—one from each Appellate Court District and one from the State at large—to hold, regulate, supervise and control examinations for admission to the bar, and to examine and report upon applications for admissions, based upon admission to the bar, in another State or foreign country. Every application to this court for admission to the bar shall be made in term time, by motion in open court, based upon a report of said Board of Law Examiners. Each examiner shall act as a member of such board for a term of three years, except under the first appointment, which shall be for a term of one year for one, two years for two, and three years for the remaining two of said examiners, and until the appointment of their successors.

"Examinations shall be conducted by written or printed interrogatories, in whole or in part, and to be as nearly as possible uniform throughout the State; to be held at Ottawa on the last Tuesday of February; at Chicago the fourth Tuesday of June; at Springfield the first Tuesday of October, and at Mt. Vernon on the first Tuesday of December in each year. Such examinations shall be held by the examiners as a body, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum.

"Each applicant examined must sustain a satisfactory examination upon the Law of Real and Personal Property, Personal Rights, Contracts, Evidence, Common Law and Equity Pleading, Partnership, Bailments, Negotiable Instruments, Principal and Agent, Principal and Surety, Domestic Relations, Wills, Corporations, Equity Jurisprudence, Criminal Law, and upon the Principles of the Constitutions of the State and of the United States and Legal Ethics.

"The board shall certify to this court every person who shall pass a satisfactory examination, providing such person shall have in other respects complied with the rules regulating the licensing of attorneys, which fact shall be determined by said board before the examination. If an applicant, on examination, should be rejected, he shall not again be admitted to an examination until at least one examination has intervened after such rejection, and shall file with the board proof that he has studied law during the intervening time subsequent to the prior examination.

"Each applicant for admission to the bar, whether upon examination or admission in another State or foreign country, shall pay to said board, in advance, a fee of ten dollars, and shall present his affidavit, or that of some other reputable person for him, that he is of the age of twenty-one years or above, a resident of this State and a citizen of the United States, or has declared his intention of becoming a citizen thereof; also a certified transcript of the record from a court of record in this State, showing that he is a person of good moral character, which transcript shall show that at least two reputable members of the bar practicing in the court in which the record is made, and whose names shall be given, appeared before said court and testified that the applicant was a reputable person and of good moral character.

"Every applicant except those who apply for admission by virtue of admission in another State or foreign country, shall present to the Board of Law Examiners satisfactory proof, in writing, by examination or otherwise, as the board may direct, that he has had a preliminary general education equivalent to that of a graduate of a high school in this State, and has pursued for the period of three years, during at least thirty-six weeks in each year, a course of law studies covering the subjects above enumerated, naming the law books studied, and that such law studies have been pursued in an established law school considered by the board to be in good standing, or under the tuition of one or more licensed lawyers, and that the applicant, if studying under such tuition, has submitted to regular and satisfactory examinations by such lawyer or lawyers during said period, upon each subject. Such proof shall consist of the affidavits of the applicant and the certificate of the secretary or one of the professors of the law school, showing personal attendance at such law school, or the certificate or certificates of the lawyer or lawyers under whose tuition such studies have been pursued; or if, in consequence of the death or absence of such lawyer or lawyers, his or their certificate cannot be procured, its place may be supplied by the affidavit of any credible witness having knowledge of the facts. The course of study may be made up by attendance upon a law school for a portion of the time and under the direction and supervision of one or more lawyers for the remainder of the time.

"The papers produced to the board of examiners, in conformity with the foregoing rules, shall not be deemed conclusive evidence of the facts therein stated; and if it shall come to the knowledge of said board that any person who has presented to said board such transcript has imposed upon the court in which the record is made, and is not in fact a person of good moral character, or that any certificate or affidavit is untrue, said board shall, after full investigation, certify their findings in that respect, together with the reason therefor, to this court with their certificate or qualification. Any fraudulent act or representation by an applicant in connection with his application for examination or admission shall be sufficient cause for the withholding of the license by this court, or for its revocation after it has been issued.

"Every applicant for admission to the bar upon a license or other voucher showing his admission as an attorney at law in another State or foreign country, must, in addition to the other proofs above required, present to the board such license duly certified, or a copy of the record of the court showing his admission to the bar, duly proved, as required by law for the authentication of the records of the courts of sister States when offered in evidence in the courts of this State. Such license or voucher must confer the right to practice in the highest courts in such State or foreign country. Such applicant shall be admitted upon such license or voucher without examination by the board, if it appears to the court, by the certificate of said board, that in the State or country in which the license was issued the requirements for admission to the bar were equal to those prescribed in this State, or that the applicant has been engaged in active practice for a period of five years in courts of record under such license. The board shall certify to this court persons entitled to admission by virtue of such admission to the bar in such other State or foreign country.

"Out of the fees received by the board of examiners they shall pay all necessary expenses for examinations, including necessary traveling expenses. The remainder of said fund in each shall be divided equally among the examiners: Provided, however, that no examiner shall receive more than $750 per annum, and if, after the payment of such sums to each examiner, there shall remain a surplus, said surplus shall be paid over to the succeeding board of examiners, and shall constitute a part of the receipts of the next succeeding year. The board of examiners shall render an account of their receipts and disbursements to this court at the October term of each year."

The State Board of Law Examiners, on January 12, 1898, adopted rules and regulations as follows:

"Rule 1. All applications must be on the printed forms prescribed by the board of examiners, and filed with the secretary of the board at least three weeks before the stated meeting of the board at which the applicant intends to apply, and must be accompanied by all the proofs required by the rules of the Supreme Court and those of this board, on the forms prescribed by this board, wherever applicable; and from all of which it must appear affirmatively and specifically that all the preliminary conditions prescribed by said rules have been complied with; and the fee of ten dollars prescribed by the Supreme Court must be paid at the same time.

"Rule 2. Each applicant for admission, upon examination, shall present with his application satisfactory proof in writing that he has had a preliminary general education, equivalent to that of a graduate of a high school in this State. A three years' English course, consisting of Algebra, Geometry, Ancient History, Physiology, Rhetoric, Physics and Physical Geography, each one year; Bookkeeping and English Composition, one year; Mediaeval and Modern History, with special references to English and American History, one year; English and American Literature, one year, will be accepted as such equivalent.

"In case of the omission by the applicant of any one or more of such studies, except English and American History and Literature, the equivalent of such omitted study or studies, in any science, or in any classical or modern language (Latin being especially recommended), will be accepted in lieu of such omitted study or studies.

"The proof required by this rule that the applicant has satisfactorily pursued the said studies or their equivalents, for the requisite periods, may be either one or more of the following instruments:

"1. The diploma of any University or College in good standing; or

"2. The diploma of a high school in this State, where such diploma designates the several studies pursued and the length of time devoted to each; or

"3. The diploma of a high school in this State, accompanied with the certificate of the principal of such school, designating the several studies pursued, and the length of time devoted to each; or

"4. The affidavit of a principal of a high school in this State, or other high school teacher or teachers under whom the applicant has studied in such high school (or, in case of the death or absence of such principal or teacher), then the affidavit of any credible witness, or witnesses having knowledge of the facts designating the several studies pursued, the length of time devoted to each, when and in what high school such studies were pursued, and as nearly as possible the applicant's degree of proficiency in each study; or

"5. The affidavit of a principal of a high school of this State, or of a superintendent of city schools, having a high school under his supervision, setting forth his special written examination of the applicant for the purpose of an application for admission to the bar, wholly conducted by himself in person, stating the dates and place of examination, the time consumed therein, the extent to which each study was pursued by the applicant, and covered by the examination, and that the applicant did not, directly or indirectly, receive any improper aid or assistance during or before such examination, and giving, on a scale of 100, the grade or proficiency actually shown and fairly and justly earned by such applicant in each study; which affidavit must be accompanied by the questions and answers comprising the examination, each answer signed by the applicant and the grade mark written thereon by the examiner, and which questions, answers and grade marks must be identified as such in the affidavit, and must be attached thereto, the sufficiency of such proofs to be passed upon by the board, and the applicant shall present his own affidavit to the same effect; or

"6. The diploma of any accredited school, not in Illinois, whose graduates are admitted on a diploma to the freshman class of any University or College, in good standing, in the State or country in which such school is located; such fact to be evidenced by the certificate of the president or secretary of such University or College under the corporate seal of the institution; or

"7. The certificate of the president or secretary of any University or College in good standing, under the seal of the institution, that the applicant has been admitted to the freshman or any higher class of such institution, without conditions, or upon conditions which had since been complied with.

"Rule 3. Every applicant for admission to the bar of this State, by virtue of admission in another State or foreign country, must present with his application, either

"1. A copy of the rules relating to admission to the bar, of the court by which he was admitted, in force at the time of his admission, from which it will appear that in the State or country in which he was admitted the requirements for admission to the bar were then equal to those now prescribed in this State, which copy must be properly certified under the seal of the court as a full and correct copy of the rules in force at the date of such admission; or

"2. The certificate or certificates of one or more judges of a court or courts of record in the State in which he was admitted, showing affirmatively and specifically that the applicant has been engaged in active practice for a period of five years in said court or courts under the license granted him by the _____ court in said State, and the time or times when he was so engaged. The signature of each judge so certifying must be certified to by the clerk of the court under the seal of the court.

"If, in consequence of the death of any judge or judges, or for other good reason to be proved to the board of examiners, such certificate cannot be procured, its place may be supplied by the certificate of the clerk of the court in which the applicant practiced, under the seal of the court, if such clerk has personal knowledge of the facts, and so certifies; or by the affidavits of two or more reputable lawyers, having such personal knowledge, setting forth the facts specifically, as to when and where and in what courts and for what period of the time the applicant so practiced, and their means of information, and the officer before whom such affidavit is taken must certify that the affiants are reputable lawyers, in good standing at the bar.

"Rule 4. All affidavits required by Rule 39 of the Supreme Court, or by these rules, must be made before an officer authorized to administer oaths and having an official seal, and attested by his official seal, or, if made before an officer not having an official seal, his signature and official position must be properly certified to by the proper officer having such seal.

"Rule 5. An established law school to be considered in good standing must faithfully teach the several branches of law specified in Rule 39 of the Supreme Court, and must require recitations averaging ten hours or more each week."

The supreme Court, on the 17th day of April, 1907, placed the following construction on a portion of Rule 39:

"The proper construction of that portion of Rule 39 of this court relating to the period of study for applicants for admission to the bar, is as follows:

"During the first twelve months elapsing after the date at which the applicant asks to commence his credit for study, he must pursue his law studies for at least thirty-six weeks of the fifty-two. During the second twelve months for which he asks credit he must do likewise. During the third twelve months for which he asks credit he must pursue his studies as required at least thirty-six weeks, but when such thirty-six weeks' period of study has elapsed for that year, he may take his examination, if otherwise qualified, without waiting for the expiration of the whole twelve months of the last year.

"It is not allowable to pursue less than thirty-six weeks of study in one year and make up deficiency by an excess of over thirty-six weeks in another year of the three years. The shortest time after commencing study, in which the required course can be completed, is two years and thirty-six weeks."

"The time has gone by when an eminent lawyer, in full practice, can take a class of students into his office and become their teacher. Once that was practicable, but now it is not. The consequence is that law schools are now a necessity."—The Late Chief Justice Waite.

The Faculty of the Chicago-Kent College of Law desires to place a copy of each Annual Catalogue in the hands of every genuine graduate. They will esteem it a favor if any Alumnus will forward to the Secretary his present address, and notify him of any change of address. They will also be grateful for any information from any source that may assist in making or keeping the directory of the Alumni complete, or serve in completing an Alumni catalogue now in course of preparation.
